D. B. Young Reports On Coal Mission's Trip To Japan

D. B. Young, general manager of the Coleman Collieries Ltd., gave a very interesting address to the Coleman Board of Trade on his recent visit to Japan as a member of the Canadian Coal Mission.

Mr. Young pointed out that as several small shipments of Alberta and British Columbia coking coal had been shipped to the Japanese steel industries during 1957 and 1958, negotiations had arrived at a point where it was deemed necessary to send a delegation of coal operators from this district to Japan to confer directly with steel industries and to explore the possibilities of coal from the Crows Nest Pass area being used in their operations. Coking coal from the Viceroy Creek mine of the Coleman Collieries Ltd. has been under test for some time in addition to coal from other mines in this area.

The coal mission left Vancouver by Canadian Pacific Airlines "British Britannia" plane on October 26 and after 18½ hours of flying arrived in Tokyo. The flight was without incident and very pleasant all the way.

The mission was met by officials of the Canadian Embassy, the steel companies and several trading companies of Tokyo, and the delegation were immediately conveyed to their hotel headquarters. Complete arrangements for the mission to see and meet the steel companies was arranged by the Canadian Trade Consul, Mr. L. Mitter, so the purposes of the mission started immediately. Courtesy calls were made upon the Canadian Ambassador, Mr. Bull, who welcomed the delegation and made available innumerable services.

Calls were then made upon Japanese government officials, at cabinet levels who all expressed interest in Canadian coal and the possibility of selling Japanese steel products in Canada.

Interviews were then arranged with the big three steel companies and the Steel Federation of Japan in their various offices in Tokyo, to explore with them the possibility of their using Canadian coal in tonnage that would be of interest to us.

Visits to the steel plants of the Yawata Steel Corp., Fuji Steel and Nippon Kokan K.K. were arranged and the coal mission shown all the various coals purchased and how they were blended in the making of coke suitable for blast furnace operation, in the making of pig iron and steel. At these plants were some 800 miles apart travel by plane, train and car was necessary which at times gave the mission members a very good bird's-eye view of the country.

The steel companies engineers kindly supplied the men with complete results of the testing and blending of Canadian coals with coals supplied from the United States, Russia and Australia, and Japanese coals, and the general conclusions were that "if the price was right Canadian coal could be used."

The coal mission travelled some 2,000 miles in Japan, visiting many plants where coking coal was used and investigated the market possibilities on those areas which included cities such as Osaka, Hakata, Kyoto, Kobe and Nagoya.

Japan as an industrial country is very busy and in every steel plant and ship building yard there was ample evidence of rapid and considerable expansion, hence their expected increase in the importation of coking coal from the present three million tons to nine million tons by 1963. Japan coal mines produce about 58 million tons of coal per year, much of it which is ordinary steam coal, and the balance coking coal, the price of which is quite high, and the quality leaves something to be desired.

Considering the extent of industrial expansion being planned for in Japan and the certain limitations of their domestic supply of coking coal there is a hopeful optimism that Canadian coal can establish itself on the Japanese economy. Much stress was laid upon the coal mission by the Japanese industrialists relative to the consumption of Japanese steel products in Canada and they stated quite frankly that Canada was looked upon as one of its major potential markets.

Russia is selling coal to Japan on the barter system - steel for coal - so price and quality here are not the only considerations.

Australia has been selling coal to Japan this past year and the mission were given to understand that at least part payment would be accepted in the form of new ships on any new business.

However, both coals on an FOB basis are somewhat lower in price than most Canadian and United States coals which makes our position quite vulnerable.

After two weeks of continuous negotiations the coal mission left by plane for Hong Kong, for a well earned rest, which proved to be short lived as the mission were recalled to Tokyo by the Canadian Embassy for continued negotiations on the subject of Canadian coal.

These renewed negotiations resulted in our being invited to tender on a prearranged tonnage of coking coal over a five-year period. The invitation bids are now in the hands of the Japanese steel companies for their consideration, which we hope will result in the flow of Canadian coal to the Japanese markets.

This year 1959 should show some indication or trend of the acceptance of our coal and naturally the cause of success of the coal mission.

Mr. Young stated he was pleased to say that the delegation were treated with the utmost respect by all concerned in Japan. The Canadian Embassy, the steel companies and the trading companies spared no efforts in making the mission's visit well worthwhile both in business and socially. The men were shown everything possible in the coal, coke and steel making operations and the social hour was always amply provided for.

The mission was entertained at the Canadian Embassy in a style befitting our country, and the steel companies and trading companies always entertained in a typical Japanese style, which being very novel to the mission as Canadians was at times deeply and gratefully enjoyed, and appreciated by the group.

Mr. Young stated that no matter where we were in Japan everybody seemed to be busy, whether in the city, the shipbuilding yards or on the land.

Growing rice and all other forms of vegetables and food seemed to be predominant which is not to be unexpected to meet the demands of some 80 million people crowded in an area similar to the size of Alberta.

This commented Mr. Young is another reason why Japan must expand industrially and be in a position to export manufactured goods and import foodstuffs and raw materials to keep their growing population gainfully employed.

Much of the country side in Japan is similar to our own Rocky Mountain area, and in some instances, like our foothills.

There are many natural park areas such as Nara and Nikko which are studied with shrines of an architectural design very interesting to us Canadians. Crowds of people visit the parks on weekends and seemed deeply interested in the ancient history of each and every shrine.

In conclusion Mr. Young said the over-all visit was most impressive and informative and it is the hope of the Canadian Coal Mission that the good relations they have helped to establish in Japan will bear fruit in the form of a new coal business, which in turn will help to rejuvenate the faded spirits of our ailing coal industry in the Crows Nest Pass.

Mayor Frank Aboussay expressed a sincere vote of thanks to Mr. Young for the excellent talk which he described as being the next best thing to taking a trip to Japan.

Since 1904 the double-barred cross has been a world-wide emblem of those striving to wipe out tuberculosis. That is why it is always included in the design of the Christmas Seals sold by the Tuberculosis Association.

Alberta Govt. Allots $70,000.00 For Winter Work In C.N.P.

Spearheaded by William Kovach, M.L.A. of Hillcrest, a delegation of Pass men returned here this week following a trip to Edmonton where they were successful in getting over $70,000 to be spent for winter work projects in the Crows Nest Pass area.

The delegation, besides Mr. Kovach, included Joe Hanahan of Coleman, Jack Evans of Lundbreck, Bill Folowich of Coleman, Morden McNeil of Hillcrest, and W. A. McLeod of Pincher Creek.

F. S. Radford of Blairmore was unable to attend. While in Edmonton Mr. McNeil and W. A. McLeod were delegates to the Social Credit convention held in the capital city.

The committee presented a number of recommendations to the government on various projects that could be undertaken in the Pass to alleviate winter unemployment in the district.

The local group met with E. W. Hinman, Provincial Treasurer; Gordon Taylor, Minister of Highways; Norman Wilmore, Minister of Lands and Forests; James Hartley, Minister of Public Works, and L. Hooke, Minister of Municipal Affairs.

Although the meeting with Mr. Hooke was brief, the delegation was assured by Mr. Taylor and Mr. Hinman that Mr. Hooke would be made fully aware of the need for work in the Pass and Mr. Hinman also said they would look with favor on the recommendations by the delegation.

Mayor F. Aboussay Addresses The Coleman Lions Club

Lions President Jim Montalbetti presided over a well attended and enthusiastic meeting held at the Turtle Mountain Hotel on Tuesday, November 25th. The heavy agenda included final plans for the Turkey Binges to be held on December 16 and December 29.

As at previous year the Lions will provide hampers for those likely to be missed by Santa Claus. The Coleman Scouts and Cubs will assist by making a house-to-house call for usable toys or games no longer wanted by the owners, but still capable of bringing pleasure to some youngster.

The guest speaker, Mayor Frank Aboussay, outlined the many duties and responsibilities of municipal government.

Coleman was fortunate in the calibre of service rendered by the various civic departments. Residents of the town were getting superior service comparable to any other town of similar size in spite of expanding services demanded by the taxpayers there had been no property tax levied for the last five years. This was possible because of the revenue earned by the Coleman Light and Water Company during that period.

In concluding the mayor voiced his regrets concerning the indifferent public interest in civic affairs.

Springhill Fund Now $754.51

Proceeds for the Springhill Mine Disaster Fund are mounting rapidly this week and Mrs. Nora Goulding of Coleman, secretary of the campaign for funds being conducted in this coal mining community reports that the fund has now reached the sum of $754.51.

This amount, reports Mrs. Goulding, comprises donations from organizations totalling $578.50, individual donations $117.50 and proceeds from a tag day amounting to $58.51.

The drive for funds was started recently when the Coleman Lions Club at the request of the town of Coleman, organized a meeting of all Coleman organizations to promote a drive to raise funds for the stricken Springhill Nova Scotia miners.

The drive for funds in Coleman will continue until Monday, December 8th, when total proceeds raised will be forwarded to headquarters of the Disaster Fund.

The sum of $70,000 was allotted for winter work projects which will include rock work on the number three highway west of Coleman and around Crows Nest Lake and possibly some work east of Coleman.

If equipment can be obtained for a work will also be done east of Passburg and Burmis. Attempts will be made to have two or three crews working.

Consideration will also possibly be given to brush work in the Adams district from the Summit to the Carbondale and the Forest Reserve in ID 10 and ID 8.

The committee also asked that the possibility of building an extension on the snow plow sheds in Coleman be investigated.

Mr. Kovach said that the assistance being given is strictly from the Alberta government and without Federal aid. He said that they had been trying to get some Federal help but none has been received so far.

Mr. Kovach also stated that work on the projects would start this week but it was not yet known how many men would be required until the work got underway.

N. Bradley, highway engineer of Lechbridge, and Engineer Jack Wolfe will visit in Coleman Tuesday to look over the rock work to be done in the area. Work is expected to commence Thursday.

At the annual Christmas banquet of the Old Age Pensioners Association was held in the Elks hall on December 1st at 6:30 p.m. There were quite a number of members and guests present.

Our president, Mrs. Nora Goulding, welcomed everyone and hoped we would have a happy evening.

The speakers were Mayor Frank Aboussay, Dr. Kindt, M.P.; Mr. Wm. Kovach, M.L.A. and Mr. D. Young.

Dr. Kindt, after a wonderful address, said he would like to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Barrell of Blairmore, on their 50th anniversary.

Mr. Kovach, in his address, remarked that there would be a home for the elderly in Pincher Creek and the reason was because there was the same number of people in Pincher Creek as there is in the whole of Crows Nest Pass.

Mr. D. Young gave us all the particulars about his trip to Japan which was very interesting indeed.

A program was put on afterwards by the ladies and gentlemen of the Royal Purple and the Elks respectively.

We all had a wonderful banquet and a wonderful time.

Former Coleman Girl Honored at Shower

A miscellaneous shower was held in honor of Mrs. Miller (nee Frances Dibblee) at the home of Mrs. John Owen on Saturday, November 29th.

About 30 guests were in attendance. During the evening two rousing contests were held, both won by Mrs. H. Allen.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mesdames J. Owen, F. Graham and M. McKinnon.

After lunch Mrs. Graham, on behalf of friends assembled and the friends who were unable to attend presented the honored guest with a replica of a cello which was indeed a work of art made by Mrs. Graham laden with many beautiful and useful gifts.

Mrs. Gordon Muspratt, sister of the bride, assisted her in unwrapping the gifts. Mrs. Miller very ably thanked all for their kind wishes and beautiful gifts.

Nine thousand Canadians who are healthy today will have tuberculosis a year from now.

Coleman Board Of Trade Hear Report On Bulk Loading Docks

Coleman Board of Trade met in the Council Chambers Thursday evening, when President of the Coleman Board of Trade, Mr. D. B. Young, manager of the Coleman Collieries, disclosed that the bulk loading docks at Port Vancouver were now under construction and would be completed by June 15.

He advised that he had visited Vancouver on his return from Japan and had visited the site for the docks and that some 1700 feet of fill work in the ocean was being done after which conveyors and belts would be installed. This matter was disclosed to the meeting when a letter from the Fernie Chamber of Commerce to Mayor Frank Aboussay was read requesting the local board to support an appeal that this work be speeded up.

The matter of winter work was brought up and the board agreed that a letter be sent to the Minister of Public Works department in Edmonton suggesting that consideration be given to the project that would see a road built to Mount Couthard, south of Coleman, which would provide all year skilg.

The area in the vicinity of Mount Couthard is a natural year round playground and park site and if developed would mean a great deal to the economy of the Crows Nest Pass as well as providing such much needed employment for men in the Pass district.

It was also disclosed that there was an old-time trail to Mount Couthard which would cut down considerably on the construction of the road.

The Board also discussed the possibility of instituting a tourist information booth in Coleman and a committee was appointed to

Possibility of promoting more tourist business in the district was discussed and the possibility of erecting tourist information signs was brought up. Various methods of promoting tourist industry are being investigated by the board.

Coleman Grands Win Opening Game

Coleman Grands, playing before a crowd of about 500, opened the A. B. C. & M. Hockey League on Saturday, November 29th, with a 6-5 win over the Fernie Rangers.

The game was fast considering the Coleman club had very little practice.

The first period was a fast close-checking game with Fernie taking the lead at 4:50 when Caravetta scored on a pass from MacNamara. Coleman pressed continually and finally evened the score on a goal by Eddie Belter at 12:30 and went a goal up at 15:30 when Cerny beat Chambers clearly. The period ended with Coleman leading 2-1.

The second period was only 30 seconds gone when Serafini of Fernie tied the score at 2-2. Coleman went to the attack again and succeeded in going ahead 3-2 when Albert Gutierrez blinked the red light while Fernie was a man short.

Coleman pressed hard but was stopped by the superb goal tending of Chambers early. The period ended with Coleman leading 3-1.

The third period was 2-0 seconds gone when Serafini of Fernie tied the score at 2-2. Coleman went to the attack again and succeeded in going ahead 3-2 when Albert Gutierrez blinked the red light while Fernie was a man short.

New X-ray Installed at C.N.P. Hospital

A new Picker X-ray machine has been installed in the hospital during the past month.

The new machine is a 200 MA Picker twin tube radiographic and fluoroscopic X-ray machine and is valued at $10,000. The equipment was not paid for by the local hospital but was supplied through a Dominion government equipment grant, which grant was administered by the province. Since the grants terminate as of December 31, 1958, the hospital was fortunate in being able to exchange the former 100 MA X-ray machine for the present equipment.

V. J. Horejsl, secretary of the hospital, stated that the new machine has many advantages with the main one to the general public being that it is necessary for them to have an X-ray that with the new machine they are exposed to much less radiation than with the previous machine as the new X-ray is so powerful that it penetrates faster which means a shorter exposure time.

The machine also provides much better X-ray pictures.

Another important feature, Mr. Horejsl stated, was that when fluoroscopy is being done the operator can, if he finds it necessary, take up to four spot X-rays with just the flick of a finger which provides for a more detailed diagnosis of a patient's troubles.

Mr. Horejsl said that with the new machine that there is no longer any need for the patients to be moved off of a bed or a stretcher onto the X-ray table as the new machine is so versatile with its twin track tube stand that X-rays can be taken at almost any position.

The new machine is a credit to the hospital and is greatly appreciated by the local physicians.

Cameron School Teachers Honored

Miss Margaret Dunlop and Mrs. Beatrice Beck of Cameron School were recently honored by the Red Cross Society in the award of beautifully engraved long service pins.

In organizing their classes for so many consecutive years and in maintaining the interest and enthusiasm of the students as members of the Junior Red Cross, these teachers have sustained the tradition of service which began in the first year of Cameron School's operation.

In 1922 Mr. Fred Antobus the first principal, organized a Junior Red Cross group, and since then there has never been a year that has not seen at least one active group there.

Miss Anne Yuill, who followed Mr. Antobus, took up where he left off, and for twenty-seven years was a most active and devoted worker. Her great interest was in seeing the Cameron School bed, in the Jr. Red Cross Hospital, established and equipped, and now, in addition to their routine Red Cross contributions, yearly gifts are sent from the school to help maintain this bed.

Coleman Talent in Bellevue Show

An excellent variety concert was held in the I.O.O.F. hall in Bellevue last week-end, sponsored by Jobs Daughters of Bellevue.

Some 23 local artists took part in the evening's performance which included vocal and musical solos, tap dance groups and other entertainers.

Winners of the concert were—1st, violin solo, "Ave Maria" by Harold Kane of Hillcrest; 2nd, Judy Holyk, of Coleman, with her tap dance, Johnson Rag, and third was won by the Bellevue Explorers Group* choir under the direction of Mrs. R. G. Thompson of Blairmore. Another entertaining feature of the concert was a pre-school hula hoop contest which saw little five-year-old Lois Fortunaas wiggle her way to top honors in the competition. Master of ceremonies for the evening was William Harper of Bellevue.

Proceeds from the concert went towards sending a donation to the Springhill Miners Disaster Fund, and the Retarded Children's Fund and the Cerebral Palsy Fund.

Jobs Daughters are planning on holding several more of the Talent Hunts in Bellevue after the New Year and Christmas season, and it is expected that a packed house will be on hand to see the choice of the Pass talent put on first-class entertainment.

Fir Tree At Beaver Mines Worth $1,000

On the road from Beaver Mines to Burnham is a tree that stands out among its brothers and sisters as a character.

It is a large fir and must have been seen by whomever passed that way, for it is a real beauty.

The people of the district know it well as we have seen it whenever going that way.

It has grown on a hillside beside the road and its very shape and size are a symbol of the grandeur of the district in which it lives. It has so grown that the wind seems to pass over it rather than through it and it is a favorite tree for birds to nest in.

It is a thousand dollar tree.

That is what Mrs. Leskosky told the Calgary Power Company which desired to put the power line through and cut the beloved old tree down.

And she meant every word of it, for to her it is symbolic of all the happiness she has known while living here and raising a family.

The Power Company would not pay the $1,000 as she well knew, so they moved their line so as to miss it.

Mrs. Leskosky still has her tree and it is hoped it stands to adorn the roadside and to shelter the birds for many a generation to come.

The Story of Canada's Coal Industry

(The Financial Post has published a supplement devoted exclusively to the coal industry — its past, present and probable future. The Journal will publish from time to time articles based on information contained in the supplement to bring its readers up-to-date on the subject).

The main problem faced by Canadian coal: Where it is mined there are no big markets.

Canada's main coal users are situated far from nearest Canadian sources. They are much closer to U. S. coal fields.

Partially, to compensate for this, Ottawa — acting through the Dominion Coal Board — has since 1925 followed the practice of granting subsidies on coal shipped within Canada.

The basic coal subvention policy which has been followed by all Canadian governments since that time is simply, within prescribed limits, to pay enough of the transportation costs to make quantities of Canadian coal competitive in principal coal-using regions.

For this reason the coal industry finds itself in almost constant consultation with Ottawa, usually trying to have subventions increased to open new markets.

The history of government help for the coal industry goes back to Confederation.

Immediately before Confederation, Nova Scotia mines had a thriving coal trade with the eastern seaboard of the U. S. They exported some 70 per cent of their total production to the area.

But in 1866, the U. S. government imposed a duty of $1.25 per ton on Canadian coal. With the high purchasing power of the dollar in those days, that became a monumental stumbling block.

The Nova Scotia producers, virtually cut off from their traditional market, turned to developing new ones along the St. Lawrence. They faced severe competition from coal imported from Britain as ballast in ships, but managed to work up a substantial new trade.

It never really compensated for the lost U. S. market. In 1877 a select committee of the House of Commons was instructed to enquire into the situation.

Following that inquiry a duty of 50c a ton was imposed on all imported coal.

From then on, government aid for the coal industry became an accepted principle.

In the 1920's both the House of Commons and the Senate devoted a great deal of attention to coal.

There was a feeling across Canada that a country with such huge resources could — and should — become self-sufficient in the fuel.

This was very strong though it had elements of economic fallacy. From 1921 to 1926 coal matters were successively considered by a special committee of the Senate, a select standing committee of the House and a second special committee of the House as well as by the Royal Commission on Maritime Claims.

All these various bodies agreed on one thing.

That Parliament should assist the movement of coal from mines in both Eastern and Western Canada to the major centre of consumption in Ontario and Quebec.

There followed a period of trial and investigation into the costs involved. Finally a subvention policy emerged which has been applied ever since.

The first funds for coal shipment subventions in the present sense were voted in the 1924-1925 fiscal year. The minister of mines was authorized to direct their payment.

He delegated the responsibility of administration to the Dominion Fuel Board and 42,000 tons of Maritime coal were shipped under subvention.

Meanwhile the Board of Railway Commissioners was instructed to conduct a series of tests and investigations into costs of transporting coal to the central provinces from the Eastern and Western deposits.

This experimental and investigation stage lasted until about 1928 by which time subventions and their administration had settled down to a routine responsibility of the Dominion Fuel Board.

By the outbreak of World War II Dominion Fuel Board had acquired great knowledge and experience in coal.

During the war Nazi U-boats operating in the gulf and the lower part of the St. Lawrence cut Central Canada off almost completely from water shipments of Cape Breton coal.

But by the time this became a really serious problem, the U. S. was in the war. The allotment of fuel supplies for emergency purposes was worked out on a co-operative basis between the two countries.

This means that Ontario and Quebec received a large amount of coal from the U. S., while Cape Breton found its way overland to U. S. users.

It meant that Nova Scotia lost outlets in Ontario which used about 900,000 tons a year. These markets have never been recovered to any great extent.

The Dominion Fuel Board was reconstructed at the end of the war and continued to function until the establishment of the Dominion Coal Board in 1947.

As Mines Minister Paul Comtois recently stated in the House of Commons:

"The Canadian product is not subsidized to sell for less than other coals, nor is it subsidized against any other forms of energy. The assistance only permits the consumer in Central Canada to choose between Canadian and imported coal at the same price level.

Canadian producers benefit also from the 50c a ton duty on imported coal.

For Nova Scotia coal the maximum subvention is $5.25 to move one ton to the present subvention area.

For Western coal the maximum assistance is $4 a ton.

Most important in terms of quantity are Nova Scotia shipments. To enable Nova Scotia coal to penetrate more deeply into central markets the government increased aid in the fiscal year ending April 1, 1959.

The flat rate of 45 per cent of freight rates on coal moving by rail into Ontario and Quebec was replaced by a graduated scale running from 25 per cent in the Saguenay area to 60 per cent west of Montreal. This is widening markets.

On coal moving by water a flat rate had been set. Maximum subvention on Nova Scotia coal moving by water and rail is $2.25 a ton, an increase of 50c a ton this year.

To find new outlets for Western coal would mean moving it to Ontario at a subvention of a flat $9 or more a ton. Comtois told the House new outlets for reasonable tonnage are being investigated but time and care must be taken to assure that trade is built on a firm basis.

Comtois pointed out that the Royal Commission report on coal concluded there must be some limit to the assistance provided.

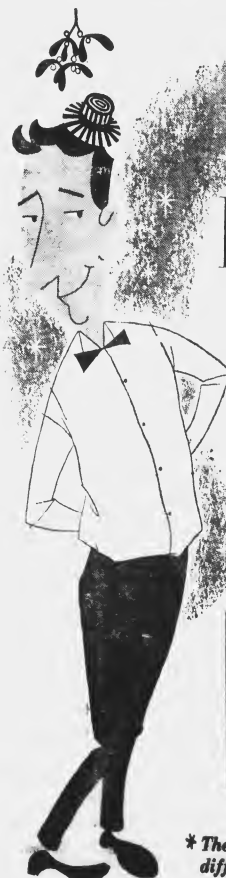

The Commission suggested that the subvention should be in relation to the cost of imported coal.

"Though we agree," Comtois said "it is the feeling of this government that present conditions have justified assistance at rates somewhat higher than those completed by the Commission."

"I tell you I won't take this room," protested the old woman to the bell-boy. "I'm not going to pay good money for a room like this. It's too small and it hasn't got a window. Just because I'm from the country..."

"Get in, lady, get in," sighed the bell-boy. "This is the elevator."

Cancer Crusade Sets All-time Record

The greatest sum yet raised in this province in the annual Cancer Crusade was subscribed by the people of Alberta this year. It was announced in Edmonton recently by Fred Kenny, Calgary, president of the Alberta division of the Canadian Cancer Society at a meeting honoring the research workers in the Dr. John S. McEachern Cancer Research Laboratory, built by the Cancer Society through public support of the Cancer Crusade.

Mr. Kenny reported that $303,372.93 had been received by the Society's 400 branches and units throughout the province, over-subscribing the objective of $300,000 by a little more than one per cent.

Over $10,000 was directed to research into cancer's causes and cures, and at the meeting a giant size cheque over ten feet long for $51,345, representing Alberta's contribution to the National research program, was presented to Dr. H. E. Rawlinson of Edmonton, president of the National Cancer Institute of Canada, the Society's professional research affiliate which co-ordinates and controls all fundamental cancer research in Canada. This was the largest single grant ever made for cancer research in Alberta. The Cancer Society acts as the fund raising body for the Institute. At the present time, it was revealed, eight research projects, in addition to research underway in the McEachern Laboratory, are underway in this province and supported by the Society through the Institute. They include two projects of Dr. R. K. Brown working with indole derivatives; Dr. K. Kowalewski with studies of radio active sulphur in cancer in rats; Dr. R. A. L. MacBeth studying steroid hormones, and projects underway by Dr. E. T. Pritchard, Dr. R. B. Sandin and Dr. Jules Tuhs, all at the University of Alberta, and Dr. E. D. Wenios of the Misericordia Hospital, Edmonton. In addition Dr. E. Triantafas of the University's Department of Biochemistry received one of the Institute's Research Fellowships amounting to $5,000. The total amount spent by the Institute in Alberta this year will be $39,699.

It was announced at the meeting that over $90,000 had been allocated to a wide-spread educational program aimed at creating an awareness of cancer's dangers, and the hope for cure through early detection. Public meetings, films, newspaper features, radio, television, literature, exhibits and many other media were used in furthering this aspect of the Society's work, which Mr. Kenny described as "saving lives today, while we look for research to come up with the final answer tomorrow."

The Society's patient care and welfare program spent a record $124,000. It was reported, and gratification was expressed over the low cost of the Cancer Crusade which, at slightly less than $13,000 was about 4c to collect each "cancer dollar". Credit for the low cost of fund raising and administration was given to the thousands of volunteer "cancer crusaders" described as the backbone of the Society.

Dr. B. D. Margolis, who represented the Alberta Division of the Society at the 3rd annual National Cancer Research Conference held in Honey Harbor, Ont., last June, was the main speaker.

Dr. Margolis is himself active in laboratory cancer research at the McEachern Laboratory.

The speaker described the conference's chief aim as "giving scientists working in various aspects of cancer research a better orientation of the broad field of cancer control."

Progress in research in genetics, the influence of viruses in cancer, and developments in research into the cause and cure for leukemia were described by Dr. Margolis.

On Saturday morning the Society's board of directors, which met in Edmonton last week-end, visited the McEachern Research Laboratory for an inspection of research facilities and a demonstration of the many projects now underway.

The complete campaign results for all of the Society's Districts is as follows:

Christmas Seal Sale Returns Good

Returns to date in the Christmas Seal sale amount to $9492, according to Mr. Bob Ranson, chairman of the Kinmen Club of Lethbridge TB Christmas Seal Sale committee.

"Returns are coming in fairly well," said Mr. Ranson, "and we feel confident of reaching our objective of $21,000, especially if our friends support us as they have so splendidly in the past."

Mr. R. L. Jardine of Lethbridge, a director of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, reports that total returns for the province are $90,186 toward the provincial objective of $230,000, the amount required to meet the budgetary requirements of the Association for the coming year.

He said "Our mobile units, operated in co-operation with the provincial Department of Health, have already examined 151,326 Alberta people this year, and by the year end the total will exceed 165,000. The chest X-ray clinics operated by the Association in Calgary and Edmonton have provided 27,777 free chest X-rays since they were opened in April, 1957, and daily attendances indicate they are proving a useful purpose."

"Tuberculosis can be cured very quickly," Mr. Jardine said, "if it is discovered and treated early and this is the most practical method of getting rid of the scourge of tuberculosis. The sale of Christmas Seals is our only source of revenue to carry on this work."

Contributions may be sent to the Kinmen Club of Lethbridge TB Christmas Seal Sale committee, box 52, Lethbridge, Alberta.

Muscular Dystrophy

Four years ago Canada's frontiers sparked a group dedicated to finding — through medical research — the cause and cure of muscular dystrophy — the crippling, killing disease that afflicted over 20,000 Canadian youngsters and adults.

This year, through their international association, they formally resolved to carry on the fight as long as they were needed.

Starting in November in hundreds of Canadian cities, towns and villages they'll be giving their free time to the 1958 March for Muscular Dystrophy. Far from being satisfied with their record of raising over half of the million dollars that The Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada has invested in basic medical research, they say they won't rest until the cause and cure are found.

Their role varies from place to place.

It is usually a house-to-house canvass; sometimes they enlist the aid of the Boy Scouts and the service clubs; of women's and church groups; of fraternities and sororities. The eight-foot banner of The Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada on their fire trucks and fire halls is a proud emblem of their support. And they are always ready to spend a morning or afternoon entertaining young patients at their fire halls.

They do more than their share, they're appealing now to their fellow Canadians to match their effort

Letters To The Editor

185 Cedric Ave.,
Toronto 10, Ont.
Nov. 23, 1958

Hello, Tom:

According to my mom you are always welcoming news for the local paper, and we have had a guest to our fair city this time in the way of Mr. Joe DeLuca of Calgary.

Formerly of Coleman, Mr. DeLuca was very surprised when he arrived at Toronto airport when he was welcomed by myself and his mom and dad. Mr. and Mrs. O. Bomben of Toronto.

Joe reported a very nice flight down, spent one whole week with us, and departed for home (Calgary) on the 23rd of November.

Whilst in the city he was the guest of his parents, residing at 646 Coldstream Ave., Toronto 10. I can assure you that Joe never had a dull moment all the time he was here.

While his mom and dad were working I took him sight-seeing and there is very little left to cover. Visited some such places as Casa Loma, Toronto's famous castle, the Canadian National Exhibition grounds, the Maple Leaf Gardens, Maple Leaf stadium and even a trip on our subway.

In the evening while I was working he had his mom and dad to entertain him. Joe reports that we start our Christmas early down here, and was amazed at all the Christmas decorations up already. You see, once Easter's have their Christmas parade in November, Christmas is on. Yes, sir, we may have no snow yet but our city can match any in Canada for beauty, especially at Christmas.

We have had one night of frost this year so far, and Mr. Bomben still has flowers in the garden. We have yet to have our first snowfall!

Joe left for home with fond memories of Toronto and also reports the holiday too short. Mr. and Mrs. Bomben wish also to be remembered to all their old friends in Coleman and the Pass.

I might also add that the Bombens have got mobile after all these years and have taken delivery of a new 1959 Chev Belair!

In closing I would like to say our best regards to all our old friends in Coleman from the Caroes and always remember that there is always a western welcome here in Toronto by all the ex-Colemanites, now becoming Easterners!

All the best,

LAWRENCE A. CAROE
N.B.—Guess it should be added also that Mr. Armando DeLuca is also a son and residing in Coleman (Bomben).

OF MANY THINGS

For Fighters Only!

(By Ambrose Hills)

If you are one of the pathetic cynics who has sneered at free enterprise, don't read this column because you won't like it.

As a columnist, I've met every sort and description of men from stumblebums to tycoons, professors to lip-readers. The kind of man I always liked and always will like is the fellow who is frankly out to make money — because money, to him, is the index of his performance.

I like the preacher who wants to attract big crowds to his church, so that he'll get bigger collections and build a bigger, more beautiful church.

I like the worker, who wants more pay in his weekly envelope because he knows that the pay is the result of his own skill and willingness to cut the mustard.

I can't stand measly-mouthed do-gooders (it should read "talk-gooders" because few of them actually DO anything) who rant about social consciousness, equality and all that sort of thing, which they expect from others.

I'd respect them if they had their hands in their pockets forking out some dough while making free with the words — but most of those fellows seldom fork out for anything. I like farmers who are frankly out to make money out of their farms, and I especially like those who do make it. I fail to see that a poor farmer is more virtuous than a rich one — indeed, in my experience, the reverse is more likely to be true.

I write this column in anger, because I have just been reading the guff written by a bunch of United States Senators who want to see the big General Motors Corporation split up. They say it is too big, too successful, too powerful. What filthy rot!

If those snivelling Senators would encourage other corporations to grow big they'd be doing more for us than they'll ever accomplish by chopping a big corporation down.

Surely to Heaven this country wants men and women who are out to win, to build big things, to make big money. Men who lead rather than lean.

You can trust a man who is forthrightly out to make money. I'll be darned if you can trust the kind of man who isn't. Look back through your life and see if that hasn't been true. Who makes the jobs, who pays the bills, who gains and gives?

In the name of "Welfare" and "Social Conscience" and do-gooder double-talk, we are letting the very men who could do things for us be tied up in red tape so tightly they cannot produce. We've made free enterprise a dirty word when it ought to be a proud one.

We've mistaken soft heads for soft hearts.

If you want to find a truly soft heart, the place to look for it is in the bosom of a man with a hard head. Think back through your own experience, and you'll know what I say is true.
